Missouri Truck Driver Given National Honor

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—A Missouri truck driver who saved the life of a baby after an auto wreck today was named national driver of the year.

The American Trucking Assn. (ATA) announced the award to Ernest Roedel, 29, of New Franklin, Mo. Roedel is a driver for Freight Ways Inc., Wichita, Kan., and is a member of Teamsters Local 534 of Sedalia. He operates a tractor-trailer out of Boonville.

Roedel, father of a five-year-old boy, is credited with saving the life of a three-month-old baby and giving first aid to her two-year-old sister after an auto smashup in which both their parents were killed.

He also was cited for a 500,000 mile no-accident record. The ATA said Roedel never has been in an accident either in his own car or during the 6½ years he has driven a truck.

As driver of the year, Roedel will be invited to bring his wife on a visit to Washington. The couple also will spend a week in New York as the guests of the ATA.

Roedel, who has been driving Missouri and Kansas highways in his seven years with the Wichita trucking firm, was nominated for the honor by the Missouri Bus & Truck Association.

Informed of the honor at his home in New Franklin, Roedel, said "it gives me a good feeling to be picked from among 6,000,000 drivers."

Ernest Roedel

He added he did not know when he and his wife would make the trip to Washington and New York.

The accident in which Roedel is credited with saving the two lives took place about 10 miles east of Boonville, on U. S. Highway 40 Sept. 5, 1956. A station wagon carrying Lt. John Van Horn, a Coast Guard officer, his wife and two daughters went out of control and plunged down a 75-foot embankment.

Lieutenant Van Horn was killed. The children, Rebecca, 1½ years old, and Nanette, three months old, landed in a ditch filled with water.

Reprimand, $1,500 Fine Handed Down

Colonel Hears Sentencing for Secrets Leaks

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., June 29 (AP)—Army Col. John C. Nickerson Jr. was suspended from rank for one year today, fined $100 a month for 15 months to be deducted in advance and officially reprimanded for leaking secret defense data.

A 10-man court-martial, which could have dismissed him from the service and jailed him for two years, returned the verdict.

The court required only 43 minutes to reach its verdict.

By suspension from rank, the Uniform Code of Military Justice means "suspension from command." It does not affect his promotion chances but deprives him of such privileges as priority in selection of quarters and the right to sit on courts-martial.

The lean, intense Nickerson blushed visibly at the sentence since only last Wednesday he said he thought the most punishment he believed he should receive was a reprimand.

He told reporters a few minutes after the verdict, "I expect I will be transferred." He refused further comment.

Nickerson, tired-looking after five days of trial, had confessed to 15 charges that he leaked secret defense data to certain key people in an effort to have an order reversed by Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson which vitally affected the Army's missile program.

After hearing the president of the court, Maj. Gen. Crump Garvin of Atlanta, read his sentence the scholarly looking Nickerson snapped a sharp salute, turned and smiled briefly at his wife, Carol, as she moved forward to meet him.

Just before the court retired it heard gruff, mustachioed Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris blast the colonel, who admits he is absent-minded. Medaris said he didn't believe the 6-foot-1 Nickerson had "any future potential" for the Army.

Medaris, 55, is commanding general of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at nearby Redstone Arsenal and Nickerson's former chief.

Medaris told the court that Nickerson, father of four, had violated his own direct orders not to mix in the Pentagon's feud over roles and missions.

In view of this breach of discipline Medaris was asked: "Would you want Col. Nickerson in service under you again?"

Medaris, who had been lounging in the back of the witness chair, sat up straight and replied harshly, "I would not."

Defense attorney Robert K. Bell of Huntsville said during closing argument "I implore you to keep that uniform on Col. Nickerson that his talents may be saved for the United States."

Floodwaters Ebb Seaward After Storm

Additional Survivors Are Taken to Safety By Army Helicopters

LAKE CHARLES, La., June 29 (AP)—Additional survivors of Louisiana's worst hurricane in a century were airlifted to safety today. But the end of the rescue operations drew nearer, as floodwaters ebbed slowly seaward from a land laid waste by tidal fury.

Meanwhile, most of the Gulf Coast dead—estimated at from 150 to 211—were bequeathed for a second night to swollen marshes and bays that have held them in jealous embrace since Thursday's storm and tidal wave.

President Eisenhower viewed Louisiana's plight as "clamorous situation."

"He is very much concerned about the hardship and suffering in the area," said press secretary James C. Hagerty after the President had designated western Louisiana and eastern Texas as major disaster areas. The hurricane sidestepped the Lone Star State, claiming 11 lives and leaving 16,700 homeless.

As it moved north the hurricane touched off heavy rains and floods that took seven lives in Illinois, three in Indiana and three in New York State.

From dawn to dusk during the day, helicopters hovered low to locate survivors and bring them to refugee centers where they were fed, housed and given medical treatment.

"Our first job is to save the living—then we'll get the dead," said Army pilot James E. Richards.

His helicopter was one of 22 that criss-crossed inundated southwestern Louisiana throughout the day.

The death toll was estimated in reports to President Eisenhower at 211. Two hundred to 300 persons were still missing.

Mayor Sidney Gray of Lake Charles estimated the death toll at 150 but said it may not include the 61 bodies already recovered.

The Lake Charles American Press predicted an eventual death toll of 250.

The Civil Defense Administration reported 61 bodies recovered in the Cameron vicinity and estimated an additional 150 to 167 perished.

He Speaks at Boonville

Special White House Aid Urges Republicans to Brag

BOONVILLE, Mo., June 29 (AP)—Robert K. Gray, special White House assistant, tonight urged Republicans to talk more about their party's accomplishments "for never has an administration had so much to sell."

He said the Republicans are guilty "of letting the nation take for granted its peace, its prosperity and the integrity of this administration."

Gray, in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual rally of the Eleventh District Republican Women's Clubs of Missouri, praised the fiscal integrity of the administration and defended its budget.

Howard Pyle, executive secretary to President Eisenhower, who was scheduled to speak before the rally at the Boonville Rod and Gun Club, was ordered by his physician into Walter Reed Hospital in Washington and was unable to attend the meeting.

In his place, Gray flew to Kansas City, was driven to Boonville Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Jean Schumacher of Sedalia and was the guest speaker.

W. D. Smith, Pettis County Republican chairman, and Leroy Luchs headed the Sedalia caravan to Boonville Saturday. About 100 people attended the function from Sedalia.

"We must not allow them to forget that this budget, for all its shortcomings—is a balanced one," Gray said. "Our third in as many years."

He said peace had been attained after "tremendous and constant efforts" and declared that it has been four years since an American fighting man has lost his life in combat. He said this nation, under the present administration, has "a prosperity which surpasses that known by any civilization in the history of man."

Funds for Knob Noster School Building Job Have Been Reserved

Federal funds in the amount of $150,498 for a construction project for the Knob Noster reorganized school district R-VIII have been reserved by the commissioner of education, according to a message from Washington, D.C., received by James E. Jageman, superintendent of Knob Noster schools.

The federal grant is for additional class rooms that are needed to accommodate junior high and high school pupils living at the Whiteman Air Base quarters.

The funds for the federal share of construction costs will be certified when the school district has complied with construction requirements and final approval is given.

Railway Crash Takes 6 Lives

21 Others Hurt as Freight Plows Into Passenger Train

GUTHRIE, Ky., June 29 (AP)—A Louisville & Nashville Railroad freight train rammed into the line's Chicago-Miami passenger train, the Dixieland, at a cross-over here today, killing six and injuring 21, the railroad reported.

C. H. Swallows of the L & N stationmaster's office in Nashville said these were the latest figures available to him, but added:

"Everything is a mass up there and the sheriff's having trouble keeping the crowd away so the ambulances can get to the injured."

Swallows said the freight train rammed into the side of the passenger train dining car, turning it over and derailling five other cars, including three sleepers, a lounge car and baggage car.

"I imagine both trains were going at a pretty good clip," Swallows said. "The Dixieland doesn't even stop at Guthrie."

Joe Stibuerk, Chicago a steward in the dining car, said, "I had left the dining car and gone back to get some people. I got them—woman and child who had asked me to call them."

"I looked out. Suddenly I saw this train coming. I said, 'Jump into the rooms.'"

"They stood there dumfounded, but I pushed them in. Then we hit, and it felt like the whole world was shaking loose."

"I came out and saw the way was blocked. My first thought was of the diner where I worked. I went back and came around. Chairs were thrown everywhere. The car was ripped open."

The engineer of the freight train, J. T. Raspberry, Paris, Tenn., was listed as dead. J. T. Smith of Louisville, fireman, jumped to safety, described events on the freight this way:

"I was on the walkie-talkie talking to A. M. Lashlee of Paris, the conductor. Smith was beside me and Raspberry was at the wheel. I looked up. I saw we couldn't make it. I landed on both feet, stumbled, but kept up. Smith was right behind me."

"Smith said, 'I'm going to jump. Jump quick!'"

"Raspberry didn't have time."

There were 29 cars, three engines and a caboose on the freight train. On the Dixieland there were 13 cars, including the diner, which was most severely damaged.

The crash occurred just in front of the railroad station at Guthrie. The freight's first engine hit one car, apparently skipped a couple of cars and then ripped the diner wide open.

The traditional birthplace of American liberty, Philadelphia was the meeting place 100 years ago when 43 educators from 12 states met in 1857 to form the National Teachers' Association, later NEA.

Among the speakers featured on the convention's many programs are Bruce Catton, well-known author of Civil War history and editor of "American Heritage"; James B. Conant, former U. S. Ambassador to West Germany; and Norman Cousins, editor of the "Saturday Review."

With the theme, "An Educated People Moves Freedom Forward," the convention is expected to draw 15,000 to 25,000 teachers.

Swelling the number are 30 independent departments affiliated with NEA. These serve special interests of teachers from kindergarten to college. Also in session are the NEA's 24 commissions and committees which serve the general interests of education. The program also includes a convocation of educators with leaders of nationwide lay organizations and representatives of higher education.

In the leading role is Representative Assembly of NEA, with plans to reflect on educational developments of the century and the future of schools.

The assembly, which determines the association's policies, is composed of delegates from some 6,000 local and state NEA affiliates. They sit at state and territorial delegations, including groups from Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico.

On hand to preside is NEA President Martha A. Shull, teacher of English at Jefferson High School in Portland, Ore.

Red China Threatens To Boycott IGY If Nationalists Assist

LONDON, June 29 (AP)—Communist China threatened today to boycott the International Geophysical Year project unless Nationalist China is barred.

Peiping radio said a protest has been filed against a decision by a special IGY committee to admit both a "Chinese IGY Committee: Taipei" and a "Chinese IGY Committee: Peiping."

"We shall never agree to such an action, as subordinating international scientific cooperation to certain international intrigues to create two Chinas," said Chu Ko Chen, president of the Communist China IGY Committee.

Russia and the United States are taking part in IGY, a worldwide scientific study to acquire basic facts about the earth and atmosphere.

Crash in Rainstorm Fatal to K.C. Woman

CAMERON, Mo., June 29 (AP)—A collision of two automobiles during a heavy rainstorm killed Mrs. Ruth M. Reitz, 56, of Kansas City today.

A car driven by her husband, Dean G. Reitz, 60, Kansas City, and one driven by Keith L. Johnston, 41, Goshen, Ind., crashed almost head-on seven miles east of Cameron on U. S. 36.

Reitz received a fractured left leg, cuts and body bruises.

Sedaliens Get 'Jitters' When Skies Blacken

Sedaliens became jittery early Saturday afternoon when the sky quickly turned black and the wind shifted, accompanied by some lightning and a short downpour of rain, but just as quickly it passed over and the sun reappeared.

At noon the sky was overcast and there were intermittent showers, then the sky cleared. Black clouds appeared in the southwest and moved to the northeast, bringing another heavy rain at about 12:45 that amounted to .19 of an inch.

After the rain stopped, the wind suddenly reversed itself and the clouds began scudding back toward the southwest. That was when Sedaliens began watching the sky, and the Democrat-Capital office received several calls from persons wanting to know whether there was a storm warning.

They were told that there was no warning for this area but they were advised to be careful anyhow. The only warning issued by the Kansas City weather bureau Saturday afternoon was for parts of Nebraska, Iowa and central Kansas.

About 15 minutes after the clouds had moved on, Tipton, Windsor and Lincoln were contacted. Tipton reported only rain, Lincoln said there were rainclouds and some blacker clouds to the north and Windsor said black rainclouds were overhead. Later Windsor reported not a drop of rain had fallen although it received 1½ inches of rain that morning, there was no wind and the sky was clear. Total rainfall in Sedalia up to 1 p.m. was .45 inch.

There was a brighter moment amid the tension. One newsman answered a telephone at the Democrat office to be asked by a woman, "Is it going to rain?"

Looking at the black clouds outside, he stammered unbelievably, "Is it going to rain? Who's this speaking? I mean, don't you think it looks a little like rain?"

When the lady laughed, he didn't feel any better. He recognized the laughter. It was his wife.

Keep It Cool

We're hoping this cool weather continues so that Sedaliens can have a happy, comfortable Fourth of July holiday.

Showers and thunderstorms today, tonight and Monday. Slightly cooler Monday. High today near 90.

The temperature Saturday was 72 at 7 a.m. and 73 at 1 p.m. The low Friday night was 64. Rainfall to 1 p.m. Saturday, .45 inch.

The temperature one year ago today, high 97, low 30, with .02 inch of rain; two years ago, high 91, low 73; and three years ago, high 100, low 69.

There will be no visiting hours in the maternity ward at the Bothwell Hospital on Sunday. Fathers will be allowed to visit on Sunday evening only. The reason? It's crowded. There are 21 babies now in the ward.

CBS Is Willing To Study Local Network Request

Miss Le Chapman, manager of KDRO-TV, has returned from New York City and Washington, D.C., and reports that her efforts to win attention from the Columbia Broadcasting System network to the Sedalia station's demand for network affiliation have met with some success.

Miss Chapman said that in New York she talked with Edward P. Shurick, CBS vice-president in charge of station relations, but received a firm refusal from him. Later, however, she talked with members of the top echelon of the network and, through them, the legal department, and CBS Attorney Tom Fisher is now making a serious study of the situation.

At the request of Sedalia City Counselor William F. Brown, now on vacation in California and with whom Miss Chapman conversed twice by telephone from New York, she went to Washington and talked to the chief of the litigation section of the Department of Justice to learn what he would need in the way of papers and other information, should legal action be necessary.

Miss Chapman said the Justice Department appeared definitely to be interested in the problem, and an appointment for Brown has been arranged in Washington should CBS still decide not to give Sedalia a network.

Monday Moving Day for Crippled Children's Center

The Crippled Children's Center will move to new temporary headquarters this coming week, it was announced today by Mrs. Virginia Flower, president of the local center. The center will operate from a residence which is being temporarily rented at 638 East 14th.

The move to the new location is being made in order that workmen may begin work on the new annex to the Bothwell Hospital. The Crippled Children's Center is presently housed in the nurses' home at the hospital and that structure will be replaced by the new construction.

Mrs. Rudolph Swope, director of the center, advised that the complete daily program of instruction and therapy will be continued without interruption until the time when the center will be moved back to the hospital. She added that one additional facility at the temporary location will include a playground which has not been available before.

Harry Truman, Movie Stars Coming

Boonville Will Have Thespian Hall Centennial Celebration, Premiere Tuesday, Wednesday

Colorful welcome signs are going up along Boonville's Main Street in preparation for the city's Thespian Hall centennial July 2 and 3.

Former President Harry S. Truman will head a list of dignitaries scheduled to be at Boonville for the two-day celebration. Truman will be the featured speaker at a rededication of the Thespian Hall July 2.

Also on hand will be Terry Moore and Richard Sargent, two of the top stars of the motion picture, "Bernadine," which will have its Midwest premiere in conjunction with the Thespian Hall centennial.

The stars will arrive at Boonville at about 11:30 a.m. July 3, according to an announcement made by John J. Bell, general chairman of the centennial, and Clyde Patton, manager of the Lyric Theater.

The Thespian Hall, built by Boonville's now disbanded Thespian Society, is the oldest surviving theater in continuous use west of the Alleghenies according to the Missouri Historical Society. The hall is now operated as the Lyric Theater.

A full schedule of activities is expected to draw visitors from throughout Missouri. Truman's speech July 2 will follow a costume parade and a public reception for homecoming visitors and distinguished guests. Guests will include Bill Corum, noted sports writer and a native of Boonville; Roe Bartle, mayor of Kansas City; Charles van Ravenswaay, head of the Missouri Historical Society; Floyd Shoemaker, secretary of the State Historical Society of Missouri; a number of state political figures, and candidates for the title of Centennial Belle.

From entries received to date, about 50 girls are expected to come from a wide area of Missouri to vie for the Centennial Belle title. Judging will take place the afternoon of July 2, and the belle will be crowned at the coronation ball that night. The ball also will feature the music of Tex Beneke and his orchestra.

The ceremonies are expected to recall many of the notable events which have marked the history of the Thespian Hall, opened on the eve of the Civil War when slavery, the panic of 1857, and the antics of the famous Thomas Hart Benton were conversational topics of the day.

The hall was not quite four years old when the opening shots were fired in the First Battle of Boonville on June 21, 1861, said by

Steel Prices Will Increase Next Monday

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A new round of price increases in the steel industry—the 11th since 1941—begins Monday.
U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's biggest steel producer and traditional industry pacesetter, announced it will increase its basic prices about $6 a ton.
Other steel firms are expected to make similar price adjustments.
Although steel products vary widely in price, the new composite price will be an estimated $146 a ton. It is the sixth boost in as many years. Last year the industry hiked prices $8.50 a ton.
The increase came just a day after President Eisenhower said inflation may become a "real danger" unless management and labor show restraint in wage and price boosts.
Officials in Washington had anticipated a much higher increase, possibly as much as $12 to $14 a ton. Most of them took the attitude that the increase might have been worse, but all agreed it will be inflationary.

Ex-Sedalian Is Promoted To New Post

Rex H. Anderson

Rex H. Anderson, whose wife is a former Sedalian, has been named vice-president in charge of marketing of Life Insurance Co. of North America. Anderson, presently serving as assistant vice-president of New York Life Insurance Co., will assume his new position on July 1. Announcement was made by Edmund L. Zalinski, C.L.U., executive vice-president of Life Insurance Co. of North America.

Mrs. Anderson is the former Martha Jean Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Baker, 901 South Quincy.

As vice-president in charge of marketing, Anderson will be responsible for market research, product development, and the merchandising of life, group, and individual accident and sickness lines.

Anderson entered the insurance business in 1941 as group representative with Washington National Insurance Co. in their Minnesota territory. He entered the Air Force in 1942 and served with Headquarters Air Forces Troop Carrier Command and later as administrative operations officer of the 54th Troop Carrier Wing in the Pacific. In 1946 he returned to Washington National as assistant regional group supervisor at New Haven, Conn. He was transferred to the home office in 1948 to direct sales promotion for the general agency department.

In 1950 Anderson joined the Great West Life Assurance Co. in Winnipeg, Canada, as supervisor of sales promotion. He returned to the United States in 1952 as agency supervisor in St. Louis. He left Great West Life in 1953 to join New York Life as director of accident and sickness sales. In 1955 he was appointed director of sales promotion for ordinary insurance. ## Fellowship Supper Held, Ionia Church

IONIA — The bi-monthly fellowship supper was held in the dining room at the Methodist Church Sunday evening. Following a contributive repast the evening was spent in conversation and games. Before going home the group assembled in the auditorium where Rev. Estes conducted a devotional service and spoke honoring 1957 graduates, Kay Kindle, David Williams and Alvin Apscher.

First In Quality—Fairness In Price—Fastest In Service—Satisfaction Is Our First Consideration!

WE'RE OFF—This is the way the group of Sedalia teachers looked at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning, before leaving for Philadelphia to celebrate the 100th birthday of the National Education Association.
The first five miles of the trip went very smoothly, until the bus ran into high water from the rain. After a half-hour delay, however, things had dried out and the journey continued. The group arrived at Indianapolis, Ind., Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. They planned to arrive in Wheeling, W. Va., sometime Thursday.

Boonville

many historians to be the first land battle of the Civil War.
In the ensuing war years, the Thespian Hall was to be used as a military hospital, a prison and a garrison quarters. In 1864 it was to become a barricade, and today near the corner of the building stands a marker commemorating the place where three companies of Union soldiers were captured by the Confederates in the surrender of Boonville.
Following the war, the curtain again rose on the Thespian stage. By 1885 the name of the hall had been changed to the Stephens Opera House. The hall became the scene of road company performances of many noted plays and a great variety of offerings from Shakespeare to Minstrel shows to a 1906 offering called "Chaperones" featuring "mostly girls."
Such stage greats as Eddie Foy, Frederick Warde, W. B. Patton, and Eva Tanguay are reported to have appeared on the Thespian stage during this period.
After 1912—except for an occasional stage play, the Thespian Hall became a motion picture theater. It is today a modern movie theater.
In making final preparations for the Thespian Hall centennial, Boonville townspeople remember with pride a campaign to preserve the Thespian Hall. The campaign was the result of a move in 1936 by the then owners of the theater to tear down the building and replace it with a modern motion picture theater.
A group of Boonville citizens quickly formed the "Thespian Hall Preservation Committee" and launched a nationwide campaign to prevent destruction of the historic building. After many doubtful months the campaign proved to be successful and the building remained.
It was during this campaign that the New York Times, in its editorial columns, neatly summed up the eventful history of the hall, "Thespian Hall," the Times said, "has seen the charm of ante-bellum cotton parties, the drama and bloodshed of the Civil War and spectacular performances of many a noted stage star."
Fronted by four statuesque columns that mark its Greek revival architecture, the Thespian Hall stands today on Boonville's Main Street as one of the last remaining monuments to the frontier theater. And on July 3 it will attain its 100-year mark.

Lawrence and Finke Elected To Offices at Boys' State

Charles Lawrence

George H. Finke

Charles Kenneth Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lawrence, 615 South Lafayette, was elected state representative of Clark City of the Missouri Boys' State at Warrensburg. Charles has been active in the Smith-Cotton High School as a member of DeMolay, student council, band, and president of junior class. He is sponsored here at the American Legion Boys' State by the Kiwanis Club of Sedalia.

At Boys' State, Charles passed the state bar examination and was admitted to the practice of law in that state. He was also elected State Representative from Barton County. Charles ran on the Nationalist ticket. He was a citizen of Clark City.

Charles will be a senior at Smith-Cotton High School next year and is vice-president of the Student Council. He is employed this summer at the Tullis-Hall Dairy.

George Harold Finke, son of Mrs. Barbara R. Adams, LaMonte, was another from the local area to be elected to office at Boys' State. He was elected State Representative of Boone County. Harold has been an active member of LaMonte High School as president of the Junior class, editor of Junior school paper, member of softball, basketball and track teams, and Junior play cast. He is sponsored here at American Legion Boys' State by Post No. 520, LaMonte.

Missouri Boys' State is a citizenship training program designed to augment and supplement — not compete with, existing courses of instruction in schools. Its purpose is to educate our youth in the duties, privileges, responsibilities and rights of American citizenship through a system of "learning by doing."

Its slogan is "Democracy Depends On Me." The program of Boys' State has been developed on the fundamental assumption that youth can best "learn to do by doing," and that a basic knowledge of the fundamentals of our form of government will bring to every citizen a realization that in a democracy the security of his rights and privileges depends upon his individual acceptance of the responsibility inherent in them. In so far as practical, the mechanics of government in Boys' State is patterned after the established agencies of city, county and state government. In every possible way the government of Boys' State parallels that of the government of the State of Missouri. Such deviations as have been made are due to the exigencies of the situation.

Boys' State is based on democratic principals, in that all citizens may vote and are eligible to hold office. It's government is operated "for, of and by the people."

It aims at all times to make its program of training in functional citizenship effective through creating a wide range of opportunities for participation in the various agencies of government. The amount of good that may come to any citizen is limited only by his willingness to participate in the various phases of the program.

Educational, legal, professional, civic and business leaders, challenged with the opportunity thus provided, will staff all counseling departments of Missouri Boys' State.

This program originated in Illinois in 1934 with the establishment of Premier Boys' State by the Illinois Department of the American Legion. The adoption of the program as an activity of the National Americanism Commission of the American Legion has witnessed the expansion of the program to become an outstanding National Youth Training activity. Forty-eight states participated in 1956 and more than 30,000 carefully selected young leaders participated.

Jean Logan, John R. Chapman Jr. Are United In Marriage Saturday

Mrs. John R. Chapman, Jr.

Miss Jean Logan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Logan, Knob Noster, and John R. Chapman Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Chapman Sr., Jacksonville, Ill., were united in marriage at eight o'clock Saturday evening, June 22, at the First Christian Church in Knob Noster. Dr. McKendree M. Blair, professor of religion at McMurray College, performed the double ring service before an altar centered with three seven-branch candelabra. Baskets of white gladioli and daisies and Mexican jade were on either side.

Before the ceremony Miss Mary Hogan, pianist, played a prelude of wedding music and accompanied Miss Laura Smith, Jacksonville, Ill., who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of candelight satin and Chantilly lace. The molded bodice was fashioned with a V at center front and back, long sleeves that tapered to points over the hands, and the softly scalloped neckline also formed a V. The full skirt worn over hoops featured a scalloped lace chapel length train. Her fingertip length veil of candelight illusion fell from a pearl tiara. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink rosebuds and white daisies. A single strand of pearls was her only jewelry.

Mrs. Leland Logan, Minneapolis, Kan., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, and Mrs. Bill Long, Jacksonville, Ill., sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Melvin Foster were bridesmaids. They wore identical white sheath dresses over pink taffeta with matching pink panels falling from a cummerbund. Pearls decorated their pink veils and they carried bouquets of pink daisies.

Bell Long, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Wayne Herring and Tommy Long of Jacksonville, Ill.

The bride's mother chose a navy dress of silk and lace with white accessories and white carnation corsage. The mother of the groom wore a pink silk dress, pink accessories and white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Richard Logan, sister-in-law of the bride, in white lace over aqua taffeta, had charge of the guest book.

Following the ceremony a reception for 150 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table, covered with net over pink taffeta, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Pink roses and fern encircled the cake. Pink tapers in crystal holders were on either side.

The cake was baked by Miss Mary Yancey, Kansas City, who also served it. Others serving were Mrs. Ralph Tennyson, Misses Patti Tennyson and Jeannie Tennyson, cousins of the bride, and Miss Mary Kay Bain, all of Kansas City. Miss Sue Richeson, Knob Noster, presided over the punch bowl.

For traveling, the bride wore an aqua sheath dress with matching jacket complemented with pink and white accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Knob Noster High School, received her BS degree in home economics from McMurray College, Jacksonville, Ill. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi. The past year she taught vocational home economics at Franklin High School, Franklin, Ill. She will continue to teach there in the fall.

The bridegroom graduated from Jacksonville High School and attended Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., and Illinois College, Jacksonville, Ill. He is presently employed as an electrical engineer for Illinois Power Co., Jacksonville.

After a two-week trip in Old Mexico the couple will be at home near Jacksonville, Ill.

TRANSITION DRESSES
The changing of one season to another is always a transition, but it seems we make more "to do" about it this time of the year than any other. Most manufacturers come out with special collections for this switch, so we may glide into it gracefully. Black is always the predominant color and true it is quite refreshing after a pastel summer. Cotton broadcloth, cotton and silk and this year cotton and dacron hold court over the choice of fabrics. Styles available will be sheaths, for daily living, full skirts and daring tops for after six and dress-up affairs. Make your accessories dark too for after six, but for daytime, let them continue to be pastel. Nothing prettier than a black dress and hat with white shoes and purse on a hot afternoon! Most of these dresses are washable so you can continue to enjoy a care-free season in your favorite black. There will be a sprinkling of dark brown, and navy in the transition collection.

Yanks Erase Big A's Lead

Plug From Behind to Edge Athletics 7-6 in 10 Innings

NEW YORK, June 29.—(AP)—Joe Collins' double scored Yogi Berra in the 10th inning today to give the New York Yankees a 7-6 victory over Kansas City and remain in a tie with Chicago for the American League lead. It was the ninth straight for the Yankees over the A's this season.

Al Cicotte, who allowed only one hit over the last four innings in a fine relief job, was the winner over Wally Burnette, fourth Kansas City pitcher. This was the A's ninth loss in a row and Cicotte's first major league victory.

Yogi Berra, who hit a home run earlier in the game, opened the 10th with a walk. Collins stroked a double down the alley in left center, scoring Berra.

Billy Martin, who went to Kansas City with Woody Held and Bob Martin in the deal for Harry Simpson had three of the 10 Kansas City hits and Held had a homer and single. Vic Power also homered for the A's and Berra and Gil McDougald for the Yankees.

Held's second homer in two days and third of the season put the A's out front in the second but Yogi Berra's 10th homer in the Yankee half of the inning evened matters.

After Power lifted his seventh homer into the left field seats in the third, Shantz never did get even. The little lefthander, trying for his ninth straight and 10th of the year, was knocked out in the fourth when Kansas City scored four times.

Successful singles by Lou Skizas, Hal Smith, Hector Lopez and Held plus errors by Bob Richardson and Andy Carey finished off Shantz with three runs in. Martin's scratch single off the glove of relief man Art Ditmar added the fourth score of the inning.

The Yanks got one back in the fifth on singles by Ditmar, McDougald and Mickey Mantle. After Hank Bauer singled and Yogi Berra doubled to open the Yankee sixth, Tom Gorman replaced Kellner. Pinch hitter Joe Collins' sacrifice fly drove in Bayer and Enos Slaughter's pinch sacrifice fly scored Berra.

McDougald's sixth homer into the lower left field stands with one out and nobody on the seventh.

8th Inning Spurt Wins for Redlegs

CINCINNATI, June 29.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs clobbered Rob in Roberts and Jim Hearn for five runs in the eighth inning today and an 8-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phils. Smoky Burgess and Don Hoak hit home runs for the Reds and Harry Anderson got one for the Phils.

The Lions club took the first ball game Thursday night from the Rotary by a score of 5 to 4. Larry McCown went the distance on the mound for the Lions, getting his first win of the year, while Jim Shaw, who also pitched the full game for the Rotary club, lost a close battle.

The second contest between the Jaycees and the Optimist, went into extra innings, with the Optimist team winning by a score of 7 to 6. Rodewald was the winning pitcher and Wolf the loser.

The contest for Attendance Queen has finished its fourth week, with only two weeks of the contest remaining. The votes at this time show all the candidates pretty closely bunched, with the Jaycees leading by a very slim margin. The exact standings of the candidates are posted on the bulletin board at Little League Stadium.

The game between the Jaycees and Adco teams, which was rained out, will be played Friday night at 7:30 p. m. July 5.

Tuesday July 2, will be designated "Sedalia Ice and Cold Storage Night" and "Adco Night". These two teams are scheduled to play at 8 o'clock. The musical concert by the Monarch School of Music will be played between the first and second games on Tuesday night, July 2.

MIDGET INDIAN MATMAN—Chief Red Feather, a colorful 44-inch Canadian Mohawk, will be one of the four midget wrestlers who will compete in Tuesday night's tag team match in the Liberty Ball Park. The little Chief will pair with Silent McGregor and they'll oppose Pee-Wee James and Bull Brummell.

Mighty Atlas To Meet Berry In Mat Match

TUESDAY'S WRESTLING CARD
In Liberty Park—8:15

MAIN EVENT
Wild Red Berry, 215, Pittsburg, Kan., vs. Mighty Atlas, 225, Hollywood, Calif. Best two out of three falls, or a 60-minute time limit.

MIDGET TAG TEAM MATCH
Chief Red Feather and Silent McGregor vs. Bull Brummell and Pee Wee James. Best two out of three falls, or a 45-minute time limit.

SPECIAL MIDGET MATCH
Silent McGregor, 82, Glasgow, Scotland, vs. Pee Wee James, 80, Chicago. One fall, or a 30-minute time limit.

It will be "brains versus brawn" in the Liberty Ball Park when Wild Red Berry—Kansas' sly fox of the mat—collides with Mighty Atlas—the world's strongest professional athlete.

The Berry-Atlas clash will headline the summer season's first outdoor wrestling card which is set at the ball park for Tuesday night. A colorful midget tag team match, involving four of the world's greatest pint-sized mat wizards, will also share the featured spotlight.

Summertime wrestling has become a popular sports feature in Sedalia and the parade of the nation's top stars, including many TV wrestling personalities, will continue in the Liberty Ball Park ring "under the stars."

Berry doesn't have a chance when it comes to matching strength with Mighty Atlas. And "Wild Red" is the first man to admit this fact. But it's the only fact that Berry will concede to the Hollywood strong man.

For clever, foxy wrestling, few men can measure up to the crafty Berry, who, for nearly two decades has kept himself in the nation's headlined class by using his wits against the brawny men of the pro ring.

It was Berry who has been itching for a clash with Atlas and it was Legion Matchmaker Gust Karras who dangled an attractive financial guarantee in front of Atlas' eyes to bring the strong man here.

Berry was elated when the matchmaker informed him that Atlas accepted the Sedalia match. Never at a loss for words, the loquacious Berry used nearly every descriptive adjective in the dictionary in telling the matchmaker just what measures he's going to employ here Tuesday night to "pulverize" Atlas.

Atlas will be staking his newest victory string—now reaching 42 matches—in his clash with the foxy Berry. Without question, the match looms as the most colorful heavyweight attraction to be brought here in recent months. Both Berry and Atlas are internationally famous wrestlers and they have been featured many times in nationally televised matches over coast-to-coast networks.

For fun—and spills—at its best the midget tag clash is sure to please the fans and in this match, Karras has again come up with an excellent square-off. Lined up on one side are Chief Little Red Feather, a 44-inch Mohawk Indian from Canada, and Silent Farmer McGregor.

Set to oppose the pint-sized Indian and the wee Scotsman are Pee-Wee James and Bull Brummell, who is called the "Nature Boy" among the midget wrestlers. The midget team match is also scheduled for the best-of-three falls.

The card will be opened by an individual square-off between McGregor and James.

Tuesday night's matches will start at 8:15 with the Liberty Ball Park gates and box office opening at 7:15. Tickets are now on advance sale at the Pacific Cafe and the Midway Shoe Repair Shop.

Fans Forget Bill Martin

Richardson Becomes New Pride of Yankees

NEW YORK, June 29.—(AP)—Bobby Richardson, a quiet little man from South Carolina, is the new "darling" of Yankee Stadium fans. The 21-year-old second baseman is making the folks forget about Bill Martin with his timely hitting and alert fielding.

"Bobby is the best second baseman in the league right now, defensively," said Jerry Coleman, Yankee utility infielder. "And I think he is going to hit too."

Coleman has been working with Coach Frank Crosetti, smoothing the rough spots in the rookie's play. Both men insist they didn't have to help Bobby very much.

"He was just as good when he was up before briefly in 1955 and 1956," said Coleman. "The only difference is that he is older. He has grown up a little more."

When Richardson first came to spring training at St. Petersburg, everybody raved about his quick hands.

"Watch that little fella get rid of the ball," Manager Casey Stengel used to say.

Richardson would pounce on a grounder and whip the ball to first base in the same motion. He still does it, only now he delays just a fraction to be sure he has the ball first.

Stengel races about "the little fella" and insists he'd be just as good at shortstop where he originally played.

"They tell me he and Tony Kubek were a sight to see last year at Denever," said Stengel. "Richardson has shown me he can play a shallow or deep infield, go far to his left, make the double play and do a good job at the plate."

One-Hit Wins By Two Ruth Loop Flingers

David Carson and David Wilhite pitched their respective teams to victory Friday night in Babe Ruth League as each only allowed one hit.

Carson, hurling for Anderson's, won over McCowns by 6-4. Wadleigh, catcher for McCown's, obtained the only hit off of Carson. For Anderson's, Nichols was the big hitter, getting 3 for 4 while Hanigan, Garrison, and Ravenscraft each obtained one hit.

Kellner hurled for McCown's and pitched good ball with the exception of the second inning, when a streak of wildness, along with one error and two hits produced four runs for the Anderson team.

In the second game of the evening, David Wilhite continued his mastery over all opposition by allowing Brown's Supply only one hit as Western Auto won over Brown's by 7-1. A scratch hit by Trueman down the first base line was the only one off Wilhite. Not a ball was hit out of the infield and Wilhite didn't walk a single man.

Meanwhile, Western Auto racked up nine hits off the Brown's hurler, Jack Benner. Anderson collected three hits, Wilhite and Barr each received two and Gilbin and Edwards obtained one each.

Monday night, Western Auto meets Phillips in the first game and Mullins plays Brown's in the second game at 8 p.m.

Country View Expects Over 100 Golfers

Upwards of 100 golfers from Sedalia and points throughout Central Missouri are expected here today for the eighth annual Sedalia Amateur golf tournament at Country View Golf Course.

The field, including former champions and winners of other tournaments on the Missouri Sand Greens Assn. circuit this spring, will be shooting for trophies and prizes to go to winners and top finishers in five flights. A prize is also offered to the medalist of the qualifying round.

Some of the entrants played their qualifying rounds Saturday and the remainder will shoot their nine-hole rounds this morning.

The golfers will be divided, according to their qualifying scores, into their respective flights—Championship, A, B, C, and D.

George Thomasetti, Country View manager, said Saturday he had already received nearly 70 entries and that nearly that many more could be expected this morning. Food and refreshments have been made available at the club house and on the course.

Trotters Prepare For Hambletonian In Grand Circuit

GOSHEN, N. Y., June 29.—(AP)—The trotters return to Goshen on Monday, with many candidates for the Hambletonian Stakes that will be raced outside this little Orange County village for the first time in 27 years.

After last year's Hambletonian, which the late Bill Cane built into the world's most famous harness race, it was transferred to Du Quoin, Ill., to be raced on Aug. 27.

The Grand Circuit meeting at Goshen's half-mile Historic oval, however, has two major races during the week that contain 3-year-olds eligible for the Hambletonian.

On Monday is the Coaching Club Trotting Oaks, for 3-year-old fillies, while the colts appear on Wednesday in the Historic-Dickerson Cup. Both will be raced on the basis of the best two out of three mile heats.

Giants Defeat Birds in 12th

Mays Provides 1-0 Margin; Cardinals Plunged to Third

ST. LOUIS, June 29.—(AP)—Willie Mays tripled in the 12th inning and scored the winning run on Daryl Spencer's single, rewarding little Stu Miller and the onrushing New York Giants with a 1-0 victory today which dropped the St. Louis Cardinals into third place.

The Giants thus made it 14 victories in their last 18 starts and two straight over the Redbirds, who started the series in first place.

Miller, an ex-Cardinal, evened his record at 3-3 but it was his first victory as a starting pitcher this season.

With two out in the 12th and Stan Musial on second with a double, Miller was relieved by 39-year-old Marv Grissom, who got pinch hitter Del Ennis to pop up on the first pitch.

The defeat nullified an outstanding job by Sam (Toothpick) Jones, big Cardinal righthander who left for a pinchhitter in the 11th.

Veteran Hoyt Wilhelm was the loser in relief.

Miller got out of one jam after another as the Cardinals left 13 men on base. They now have left 24 stranded in the two games.

The Giants got their first big chance in the 12th and didn't miff it.

Miller escaped from a bases—

Betsy Rawls Wins Women's National Open

Title Slips Away From Jackie Pung When Disqualified

MAMARONECK, N. Y., June 29 — For about an hour today, round, pleasant-faced Jackie Pung of Hawaii and San Francisco was hailed as Women's National Open golf champion. Then she suffered the heart-breaking experience of being disqualified and the title and prize money was awarded to Betsy Rawls of Spartansburg, S.C.

This sudden turn came after Mrs. Pung had shot rounds of 73 and 72 on the final day of the tournament for a 72-hole total of 298. Miss Rawls had posted a 299 just a short time before with rounds of 75 and 76.

After Jackie had been interviewed, and photographed and left for the presentation ceremony, virtually clutching the check for $1,800 first prize in her pudgy hand a check of the scorecards revealed that she had been given a five instead of a six at the fourth hole of the final round.

For Miss Rawls, a 29-year-old graduate of the University of Texas, the victory she backed into today marked her third Women's Open championship. She won the tournament in 1951, before the USGA took it over, and again in 1953, when she beat Mrs. Pung, 71-77, in a playoff after they had tied with 302 totals.

Betsy's four rounds over the par 73 Winged Foot east course that earned her $1,800 first money were 74-74-75-76. Betsy changed her putting style just before the tournament, going back to the reverse overlap grip, and she credited much of her consistent performance to this change.

As a result of the sudden change of fortune for Mrs. Pung, second place went to Patty Berg, the veteran redhead from St. Andrews, Ill., who shot rounds of 73 and 75 on the final day for a 305 total.

Stubby Betty Hicks of Long Beach, Calif., and Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., a former open champion and recent winner of the Ladies PGA title, tied at 308.

Teen-Agers Envision Brave New Atomic World, Also Have Fears

Majority Happy Over Atomic Energy's Future...

... They're Fearful, Too, Lest Bomb Break Loose

By EUGENE GILBERT

Growing up in the shadow of the atomic mushroom, most of today's teen-agers hope it portends good rather than evil.

Three out of four youngsters say they are happy atomic energy was discovered.

One in three thinks the atomic bomb will end wars.

Only one in four thinks it's likely to destroy mankind.

At the same time, 55 per cent concede they do have fears for the atomic future. A Wisconsin girl sums hers up this way:

"Let's not talk about it. It sends chills up and down my spine—and I don't mean at the kind you get when you look at a handsome boy, either."

A 15-year-old boy, one of the non-frightened 38 per cent, takes a more fatalistic view:

"What's to be afraid of? You've got to die sometime—and I don't think one bomb is going to do it, anyway."

"People talk themselves into all sorts of stupid things," says another youngster. "The sky isn't going to fall down tomorrow but still some people worry about it."

Generally, the girls were questioned in a national survey were more fearful than the boys.

But, frightened or not, four out of five teenagers think atomic energy has greater possibilities for good than for evil.

"The atom can be a very helpful tool if we are wise enough to use it in the right way and not for destroying ourselves," says a Philadelphia girl.

"Unless the higher ups really go crazy, our civilization will stride forward because of atomic energy," observes a New Jersey boy.

"For me personally, the discovery of atomic power with its benefits to mankind is the major happening of the 20th century," enthuses an 18-year-old.

Speaking for the pessimistic minority, a Connecticut youth asserts: "The forces of evil have caused the development of atomic energy."

Perhaps the forces still left for good in the world will be able to drive it out before we all have to pay the penalty.

"I feel we would all be better off if it had not been developed because it can do more harm than good," adds a New Yorker.

On the question of whether there will be an atomic war, some 38 per cent say yes while 47 per cent said no.

"Nations will be too wary ever to fight a full-scale war," says a Brooklyn boy hopefully.

"There will always be wars and more wars," counters a pessimistic Georgia youngster. "It will take more than a good scare to stop governments from wanting to crush other governments."

"It all depends upon nations' ability to cooperate and the role of power politics, but I am sure it will all work out," says a cautious optimist of 19.

While those feeling that atomic energy is likely to destroy mankind are in the minority, they state their case with blunt finality. "I think we are destined to destroy ourselves," says a Sarah Lawrence College student.

"Everything points to the end of civilization as we presently know it," prophesies a college sophomore.

"I think it's already too late to stop the powers that be from causing our destruction and that of those around us," is the grim warning from a 15-year-old Los Angeles boy.

"We're finished, man," says one young pessimist. "whether we like to admit it or not. Maybe not today or tomorrow, but you can count on a big bang one of these fine days."

It is interesting to note that of that group five per cent foresee an end to mankind in five years, nine per cent in five to 10 years, 10 per cent in 10 to 20 years and 64 per cent in more than 20 years.

But, on the bright side, there are those who believe every bit as firmly that there is a future for homo sapiens.

"I think eventual fear of atomic energy will be used to benefit mankind," predicts a New Haven, Conn., boy.

"Nothing can wipe us off the face of the earth," concludes a Chicago girl, with the faith and bright confidence of her 16 years.

A Lake For Fishermen

Coincident with a current campaign in Boone and Callaway counties to raise $50,000 to buy 205 acres of land on which to create what will be known as Millersburg Lake, Central Missourians in our own area are "pricking up their ears."

As one devoted Sedalia sportsman, Lyman Keuper, puts it:

"The thought has been in my mind, and probably in the minds of hundreds of other Sedalians, that since good old Lake Tebo broke its dam several years ago and went rollin' down Flat Creek, us ole fishermen and young ones, too, have had to drive miles and miles in order to enjoy a few hours fishing, and the heck of it is we have to spend more time on the highways, getting there and comin' home, than we spend actually fishing. We have oodles of parks in Sedalia, one in every direction of town, but nowhere to fish. Oh, I'll admit they do a little in Liberty Park but you couldn't call that really fishing."

"I believe you'll agree with me that never in history has there been more people who are going all out for fishing than at the present time. And why not? It is an outdoor sport that the whole family can enjoy and in my mind a father and his little boy sitting on the banks of a beautiful fishing body of water or in a good boat tied up to a nice high bluff and basking in the good warm sun, is mighty close to God. Don't you think so?"

"Let's look around—Windsor has a large, beautiful lake right at the edge of town, well stocked with fish. Clinton has one pretty clear water lake after another, just countless lakes, in the strip mine pits districts, all stocked with game fish. California has a dandy within a mile or two of town. Warrensburg has its Pettle Springs lakes and other fishing spots. Sweet Springs has a nice large lake. Jeff City has an enormous, beautiful clear water lake a few miles from town, where you can fish, boat and water ski, and wonderful swimming. What do we have—nuttin'!"

"Now that Sedalia has purchased the Water Company I believe something could be worked out in that vicinity, or possibly buy a tract of rough ground very cheap, and build a big fine lake close to Sedalia so that we don't have to risk our life and limb by driving clear down to the Lake of the Ozarks to enjoy a few hours fishing. What do you think about it?"

This is probably the way Columbia and Fulton got their start on a fresh water lake which is now in the progressive stage of having raised 40 per cent of the required $50,000.

Ideas like this need to be born, then implemented. What Boone and Callaway can do, Pettis and its neighboring counties could do also. Imagine a 205-acre lake in the Tebo vicinity or elsewhere for the use of the general public.

Over in Boone and Callaway the plan is to buy and give the land to the Missouri Conservation Commission which will build and maintain a large fishing lake just north of Millersburg. The lake will be similar to other fishing places the conservation department is operating so successfully in various parts of the state. Boats and docks will be available and the 6.7 mile shoreline open to the public. It will be stocked with an assortment of game fish and improvements maintained by the state.

Contributors to the lake fund realize the tremendous recreational benefits such a spot will provide, drawing visitors to all the surrounding community areas and stimulating trade as well as health and amusement.

We'd like to have more constructive ideas sent to this newspaper's Suggestion Department. Keuper's is a good one. Who knows but what it may land on the Chamber of Commerce agenda for research action.

Foresee Second Balanced Budget as Fiscal '58 Begins

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Advance indications are that the government will end its fiscal year on June 30 with a surplus of around 1.2 billion dollars. This will be 500 million under the 1.7 billion surplus budgeted 18 months ago. But it is pretty close to the revised estimates made by congressional experts early this year.

Final figures won't be available for another month or so, when all the June bills have been paid and the last penny has been wrung out of federal excise taxes.

Anyway, the Eisenhower administration is going to show its second balanced budget in a row, which is something.

Tax receipts for the year are expected to be a little above the 70.6 billion dollars budgeted. The Treasury collected 59.3 billion dollars through May 31.

If June collections are as good as they were last year — 11.6 billion dollars — the total will be 70.9 billion. This would raise the surplus to 1.5 billion — close to last year's 1.6 billion.

As everybody feared, expenses this year will be half a billion or more above budget estimates of 69.9 billion dollars.

Through May 31, government expenses were 63.1 billion. Bills payable in June may raise this to 69.5 billion. This is three billion dollars more than government expenses in fiscal 1956. The higher cost of everything is to blame.

Military expenditures are responsible for the biggest increase. There will be some savings on things like soil bank payments and Export-Import Bank loans. But these economies won't be big enough to offset increased defense costs.

Congress will show a pretty good record on down holding.

This was accomplished in part by taking items out of deficiency appropriation bills for this year and putting these items in regular or supplemental appropriations for the new fiscal year beginning July 1.

This is an old trick to make the current year's record look good with a hope things will be better the year after.

Deficiency appropriations approved by Congress for this year total only 370 million dollars, as compared with 900 million in deficiency appropriations passed last year.

The outlook for the next fiscal year is still confused. Most of the big money bills have not yet passed the Senate or are in conference between House and Senate committees.

House-passed versions of these bills indicate potential savings of over four billion dollars. If these savings go through, budgeted expenses of 71.8 billion dollars for next year would be reduced to 67.8 billion.

With tax collections for next year now budgeted at 73.6 billion dollars, this could make a possible surplus of 5.8 billion dollars—and make room for a desirable tax cut.

There's a catch in this, of course. Supplemental appropriations for next year — to make up for many of the things Congress cuts out in the name of economy this year—could wipe out most of the indicated savings. Supplemental appropriations passed in 1956 amounted to four billion dollars.

Congress has been pretty good this year about not appropriating more money for pet projects than was requested in President Eisenhower's budget message.

The only thing the Congress has run wild on is the Senate's proposed 36.5 million more for medical research. Several other hospital construction projects would add another 3.2 million dollars.

The House increased grants to the states for library services from three to five million dollars, with every indication the Senate will go along. Other minor Senate recommendations for increases will add up to no more than another million dollars.

Boy Is Too Obedient

UNION CITY, N. J. (AP)—A man came into Jerry Provitera's barber shop and asked for "the works" — a haircut, shave and shampoo.

After stepping down from the chair, he turned to a youngster waiting his turn and said, "Wait here for me after you get your haircut." Then he walked out of the shop.

Provitera clipped the lad's hair, and, after finishing the job, asked him where his father was.

The boy burst into tears. "That man isn't my father. He met me on the street and said I needed a haircut. I don't have any money."

Provitera dried the boy's tears and sent him home.

Aid Refugees

NEW YORK (AP)—Purchased by Congregational Christian Churches in New England and by Evangelical and Reformed Churches in Virginia, 65 pure-bred heifers were shipped overseas this week to be distributed to refugee families in West Germany and Austria.

The Lemonade Stand

Young merchants at their stand are they,
Young merchants — perhaps for a day —
For back of orange crates just so high

They yell at people passing by,
And this hot weather you would think;
That anyone would want a drink;

A thermos jug is filled with ice
And jars of liquid look so nice
With orange or lemon — or instead —
A cooling drink of cherry red;

They watch each person come in sight,
As they draw nearer eyes grow bright
And there's a smile that could not fail
To win a heart and make a sale —

Yet, people seem to go on by,
And never stop — there is a sigh,
The smiles from those young faces fade,
Why don't someone want lemonade?

The pennies Jerry counts once more,
Same number as there was before,
Now he is 12 and Jack is eight,

Impatiently they stand and wait,
But Donnie, five, eyes big and brown,
Just like a squirrel scampers around,

"I wash the glasses" Donnie beams
That is his one job, so it seems,
He dunks a clean glass then runs off
While Jerry wipes it with a scold,

Jack's voice rings out, high pitched and loud,
In trying to attract a crowd,
And then a customer — at last —

He stops, he couldn't go on passed
For he remembers when he made
A stand to sell his lemonade —

The kids there in the neighborhood
Find out — and business gets real good,
They come a-runnin' to the stand

Each with some pennies in his hand
There's tinkling ice put in the glasses
But still Jack yells at all who passes,

And little Donnie get so dry,
Why can't he have some — please now — why?
They can't make money if he drinks

Their lemonade — so Jerry thinks,
Then He gets thirsty and so hot,
A nice cool drink would help a lot —

They fill their glasses — just to sup —
And finally drink their profit up.

Faces! N. Lang.

Budget Contradictions

Significant Warnings Pace Second Round Battles

By JOSEPH A. DEAR
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The team has budget-balancing troubles. Military spending is the reason. After peering into that misty crystal ball, administration money men have concluded deficit financing will be inescapable if Pentagon spending during fiscal 1958 is at the level recommended by Ike in his budget.

From Ike on down the administration is committed to the budget. The administration is flatly opposed to deficit financing. But apparently these are mutually exclusive propositions.

That explains the extraordinary series of contradictory actions of various "team" members. Remember the fulminations when Congress chopped $1 billion of military muscle from Ike's budget? The President took to TV to say it couldn't be done without endangering the nation. And he made the same point at his press conference several times.

Hard on the heels of these dire warnings, Defense Secretary Wilson directed the Air Force to cut back spending by $3.5 billion in the next fiscal year. That put Ike in the peculiar position of condemning Congress for not appropriating money that wouldn't be spent anyhow.

What Wilson really ordered, of course, was a stretchout. In theory spending would only be deferred, and that's not quite the same as a budget cut. But practically speaking, there's no difference insofar as the Air Force is concerned. The directive would gum up its programming, and Air Force Secretary James Douglas said so.

Actually, the situation is even more ludicrous than this. For at the very moment Ike was counter-attacking the congressional economy bloc, Wilson was ordering the services to defer nearly $500 million of spending during this fiscal year. (It ends June 30.) The simple fact is that the spending estimate for this year was about $2.5 billion under the mark, and the administration is short of money.

The Air Force and the powerful lobby it commands have fought the Wilson directive with partial success. Concessions have been wrung from Wilson. The net effect of these concessions is that nothing will be done during the remainder of this calendar year. In short, the Air Force can continue its programming as planned in the ominous knowledge that the whole issue will rise again before January.

Apparently the Air Force is not overly optimistic about winning the second round. Secretary Douglas warned a large group of industry representatives gathered at the Pentagon that some producing concerns would fall by the way. The plain implication of his warning is that the Air Force won't have enough money to support all the manufacturers now in business.

This warning is significant, for it substantiates a much blunter charge contained in a document the Air Force prepared. The Wilson directive, said the Air Force, would result in a "major industrial-economic upheaval displacing large numbers of people."

The directive also implies another slow-up in the production of vital jet tankers. Without tankers — and the shortage is admitted — the big bombers of SAC are restricted. And Air Force dependence on the overseas base system continues.

The directive also, according to the Air Force, would virtually eliminate production of the B-58, our first supersonic bomber. That is unsettling, for the promise of the B-58 has been the excuse for cutting back production of B-52's.

And the directive would cut into the missile program. But, as was pointed out, Wilson has backed down. The important question is what happens when round two of this budget battle is fought later in the year.

Why Indignation When Child Won't Share Things?

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

A month ago, to get Kay up in time for school, her mother bought her a white enamel clock radio.

This week Kay's little brother developed a cold. By his second day in bed, his crayons, comics and puzzles bored him. He began to fuss. He refused more orange juice. Then he flatly refused some chest rubbing.

His mother went to Kay's room, got her radio and plugged it into the outlet beside Steve's bed. Then while he happily tuned in and out of soap operas, she rubbed his chest with camphorated oil.

The radio was blaring hill-billy music when Kay got home. Dropping her books, she cried, "What's that? Is that my radio?" Then, pushing past her mother on the stairs, she rushed to Steve's room.

She was pulling the radio's plug from its socket when her mother arrived, crying, "Of all the selfish girls I ever knew, you're the worst! Go on, take it. Take it away from your sick little brother, you mean sister, you!"

This indignation which sounded so moral wasn't moral at all. In the eyes of Kay's mother, the radio was not Kay's possession, but hers. It belonged to her — the person who had paid for it.

If we examine our indignation when a child refuses to share his things with a brother or sister, we'll find that it stems from our secret conviction that his things are ours, not his.

If you don't believe me, consider your feelings when Uncle Bill refuses to let Steve play with his watch. You're not especially outraged, are you? That's because you've acknowledged Uncle Bill's right to dispose of the property he paid for as he wishes. He does not strike you as "selfish" at all.

Unending troubles are caused by parents' unconscious sense of ownership in children's possessions. When the child refuses to share them with their other children, they remain unaware that it's their own challenged sense of possession that makes them so indignant.

But they have to justify their anger somehow. They do it by making it appear very moral and superior. Vengefully they accuse Kay of the very selfishness of which they themselves are guilty.

Parents Can Never Relax Where Child's Concerned

"The catch to having children," said a grandmother awaiting the arrival of her latest grandchild, "is that never as long as you live can you think 'We won't have to worry about our children any more.' That time just never comes."

No, it doesn't. But isn't it nice that we keep thinking it will?

When a baby is small and helpless we think we will worry about him less when he is walking and talking.

But when he starts to walk, we find that he is in every-increasing danger as he curiously pokes into everything and goes his merry, heedless way.

So we think what a blessing it will be when he can go to school. But school brings more problems for us to worry about.

Teen-age brings still more. And we still worry when the time comes for him to marry and start a family. Once a mother or father, always a mother or father.

The only trick that can save us from unnecessary worry and fretting is to decide, when we have taught a child all we can, that his life is now his own.

No parental worry is going to help one bit. In fact, an anxious parent is just a problem to the grown child trying to meet life confidently.

But it takes faith and courage to stop the worrying that has become a habit. And it can never be achieved completely and for all time.

That is, as the grandmother said, the catch to having children. The time never comes when a parent can say, "Now I have it made."

Millionaires Tangle Over Inflation

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey made a serious tactical error at the start of the current inflation hearings.

Gaylord Freeman of the First National Bank of Chicago, was called in for treasury strategy conferences on how to combat the Senate investigation. He and Undersecretary Randy Burgess recommended that Humphrey meet fire with fire, that he blast the Senators. Old treasury hands advised against this, urged Humphrey not to make extravagant claims.

He spurned their advice, sided with Burgess and Freeman. Freeman then wrote the long political statement which Humphrey read into the record claiming the fiscal moon, the stars, and most of the financial universe for the Eisenhower Administration.

This was just what Bible-pounding Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma and other Democrats were looking for. They have been firing back, picking Humphrey's statement full of holes ever since.

Most amusing cross-examination in years has been Kerr's roughing up of Secretary Humphrey. Humphrey, long accustomed to being saluted by business tycoons, complains privately at being cross-examined by a two-bit millionaire from Oklahoma.

Whether Humphrey or Kerr has more millions is a debatable point. Humphrey's wealth is in uranium, iron ore, paint, rayon, steel, and biscuits. Kerr's wealth is in $100 million worth of oil and gas lands.

The wealth of both men has benefited from tax favors. Humphrey's companies have got tremendous write-offs from Uncle Sam, and those located in foreign countries don't pay taxes in the U.S.A. Kerr, likewise, has had healthy benefits through the 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance.

Regardless of who is wealthier, Kerr and Humphrey have been going at each other hammer and tongs — partly because Humphrey's big business advisers advised him to lead with his political chin.

Guest Editorial—

MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL-APPEAL: The Overprivileged. — Four boys, one 15 and three 16, were rounded up in a Southern city a few days ago. They had begun a career of dangerous antics and vandalism back in December by putting a dummy smeared with catsup in the middle of a road. No doubt they got "kicks" out of the ensuing confusion, which included the calling of an ambulance.

Within the last month the youngsters had slashed the tires on nine cars with knives and punctured the tires on 60 others with ice picks. Whether the full story of their senseless depredations had been told is not certain, but apparently it has come to an end for the time being, for they are in the hands of juvenile authorities.

A police officer, talking about the case, said: "They were out for a thrill . . . They had a pocket full of money and nothing else to do." It may be noted that they had mobility because of having been allowed to use a car. All four boys come from families prominent in the business and social circles of their community.

If young people who do not have much of anything are known as underprivileged when they get into trouble, we suppose the case here in question indicates it is possible to be overprivileged, too. Idleness and lack of adequate supervision, affection and understanding seem to produce about the same results at any level.

Air Force Fashions

Some members of Congress do not approve of what they consider a useless extravagance in the recent hiring of Mrs. Ingeborg B. Northcross to fly to Wiesbaden, Germany, to work at the Post Exchange there as fashion coordinator for the American wives living there.

It seems American women do not like French and Spanish clothes, and prefer what is being worn in America.

The complaint of the Congressmen is not entirely justified because the Post Exchanges are supposed to operate at a profit, and Mrs. Northcross presumably would earn her own salary out of the sales of the merchandise she recommended. Such a job is not new but it has usually been filled by a local person and paid with local currency.

The Congressmen objected to flying Mrs. Northcross in military transports. How many Congressmen plus their families have had a lift now and then on one of those European or Asiatic junkets without feeling any conscience about spending the taxpayers' money.

The Air Force men stationed in a foreign country will probably give better service if their wives are happy and their wives will probably be happier if they can get the kind of clothes they desire.

What is wrong with American fashions taking priority over Paris for a change? Maybe Mrs. Northcross might be a very good American economic investment.
